State Democratic Committee Meets Today

CIVILIANS GATHER AT FIRM-
INHAM TO GO OVER PLANS FOR COMING YEAR.

At the city hall today in Birmingham the members of the State Democratic committee will meet and go over plans for the campaigns of 1931. There will be a general revision of the members of the committee, and a working plan will be put on foot.

The committee will elect a national committeeman to succeed the late Col. John W. Tomlinson. Committee member James Weatherly of Birmingham, will be elected to this place by the unanimous vote of the committee. A state primary will be ordered for the purpose of nominating a congressman from the state at large, nine congressmen from the several congressional districts, a president of the railroad commission and a state game and fish commissioner. A state convention will be called for the purpose of nominating two candidates for associate justices of the supreme court.

The Real Fight

The real fight before the committee will be whether the delegates to the national convention shall be elected in a primary or by a convention and whether or not a presidential primary shall be ordered. The consensus of opinion prevails for the election of the delegates to the national convention by the state convention. The delegates to this convention shall be elected in county primaries called for date in April at which to the county primaries are to be held. The state convention will be called for some time in May. While there is very little objection to a presidential primary being ordered it is pointed out that there is very little necessity of such action as the democrats of Alabama are united on Congressman Oscar W. Underwood as Alabama's choice for the presidency.

Hard Struggle

It is expected that the meeting of the committee will last for several days as a fight is expected over the plan of selecting delegates to the national convention. The primary advocates are expected to make strong fight but the convention plan appears to have the upper hand according to the present indications.

Among the leaders who are here to attend the committee in charge are Governor O'Neal, Chairman Pike Goodwyn and others.

CHICAGO "NEWSBOY" STEERING GEAR ON DIES VERY WEALTHY. AUTO CAUSES WRECK

COULD NOT MARRY GIRL OF HIS CHOICE WHEN POOR (LATER
HEM TO BE RICH.

Chicago Ill., Dec. 19.—George Bennett, Chicago's oldest newsboy, died wealthy because the one romance of his life ended thirty-five years ago when he was poor.

Bennett's death came a few days ago at the age of 70 and after he had accumulated a fortune of more than $100,000 by selling papers and relentlessly saving his pennies.

A love affair at Wooster, Ohio, three and a half decades ago caused him to abandon that town the day after his sweetheart's father told her she could not marry a poor man like Bennett.

There and then according to his half brother C. M. Lovett who arrived in Chicago last night from Wooster, Bennett declared that he would accumulate a fortune and he loved it the same then that no other woman would ever help him to enjoy it.

Bennett lived in a room for which he paid $1 a month and where he could get his meals cheapest.

When he did none of his relatives could be found. He had signified to M. G. Austin a business man his intention of leaving his money to the newsboys home. He had also told him the story of his love affair.

Bennett left no will so far as is known.

CHAS. W. MORSE REPORTED NOT IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—President Taft and Attorney General Wickham made it plain today no further action would be taken by the government in the case of C. W. Morse for the present. Mr. Wickham following a meeting of the cabinet said that Morse was not in a critical condition and would remain in the army hospital at Fort McPherson near Atlanta where he was removed from the Atlantic penitentiary several weeks ago.

No application for a commutation of sentence for Mr. Morse will be considered by the War Department unless the condition of the man improves materially. A judge has never taken any action on the case. Officials here say the Morse's friend, contact and father acting at this time. They point out that the department of justice has been lenient in handling Morse since it became known that he was a family man.

What came near being a serious accident and what really did prove serious to the automobile occurred last night on the Headland road when the steering gear of a touring car the property of Mr. Brackin of Headland broke and the occupants out of its course hurling them into the air bruising them considerably. No one received any bad injuries.

The auto contained a party of traveling men going from here to Headland accompanied by the owner and chauffeur of the car Mr. Brackin of Headland. The steering gear broke a few miles from the city, throwing the auto out of its course and causing the accident. The car ran down an embankment through a picket fence and into a ditch where it turned turtle. The occupants were hurled out upon the ground and fortunately were not injured in the wreck except a few bruises received in the fall. In some way one of the traveling men fell upon the other breaking his leather belt which in two but neither was injured to any extent in the mishap. The front wheels of the automobile were demolished and the machine received other damages.

Dothan will have a new competitor here. The United States is said to get started but when all is said, she is hard to stop.

If your old ladder is filled with more or less unimportant matter it is about time to open a new one and then exercise great care in putting new names on it.

Cal Hryan, finding himself shipwrecked gave out the statement that every ocean going ship should be equipped with a wireless apparatus and two operators. It must be said to merit a little and have no more of making it known to the whole world.

They are trying to injure Oscar Anderson's presidential campaign by doing this to him. He boards at the Arlington so it is off and that he entertained forty guests to dinner. We don't know if he had any of those old radio humbugs with servants dining, rooming, etc. Oscar Anderson will try to explain this matter to some of the boys.

Charles Corbin wouldn't marry for $75,000. This is something for us to think on to consider unless patience, they know Charles. Probably it would be worth the money to marry him. His father left him that amount provided he would marry by December 15, 1911 and he had the date come and go to sin in bloodshed. His friends are now trying to work up a case showing that he is insane.

MORE NEEDED HERE

Many of the weekly papers of Alabama will take a much needed rest next week. The editors will skip a week, and visit their friends or their relatives or stay at home and have a good time without getting up every morning, and knowing that something must be done and done at a certain time like they have been doing every working day in the year.

Running a newspaper every week on every day becomes a grind to the average man and most of them need a few days rest from their labors.

"HOLY ROLLERS IN MASON"

That is the heading of an article in the Albany Herald and it topics an article from Mason muck. The date of the 17th telling of a hot time in that town.

At the morning, service of one of the Presbyterian churches a considerable number of the congregation were 'Holy Rollers' and when the meeting got to going good, they did things that caused some of the old timers to feel outraged.

Here is the Mason report:

The congregation of the select first Presbyterian church is tonight chastened over the demonstration made at the morning service today by the local set of Holy Rollers who comprise some of the best known men and women of Mason. A meeting of the elders will probably be held this week to take action so as to prevent the Holy Rollers from attending the Presbyterian church again.

This morning the demonstration was violently repressed and several of the elders were called in as so excited that the sermon had to be held in a quiet room. The women went away in haste.

The Holy Rollers, assembled in a hall, waved banners and jeered the elders during the service and toward the end Mr. Monte Scott, a local minister, and the other began to snarl at themselves

THE CHURCH CONVENTION

Discarding the money, the Republican National Convention Committee fixed on June 18 the annual year of Waterloo for the National Convention.

One more the committee provided that Chicago is the favorite convention city of the party. In the last half century no other city has witnessed so many national conventions. There in 1860 the Republicans nominated Lincoln and Hannibal in 1858 Grant and Colfax, in 1860 Garfield and Arthur, in 1884 Blaine and Logan, in 1888 Harrison and Morton in 1896 Roosevelt and Fairbanks in 1908, Taft and Sherman.

The Democrats on their part have been keen to win in favoring Chicago yet they think they have held their conventions there in years when the Republicans met elsewhere. It was in Chicago that McClellan and Tilden were nominated in 1864 Cleveland and Hendricks in 1888 Cleveland and Sherman in 1896 and Bryan and Sewall in 1908.

That the Republican National Committee of its own authority should attempt to impose the anti-form rule of Presidential primaries on all of the States was never probable. Only six states—New Jersey, Nebraska, Oregon, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota—have such a primary law. The committee decided to leave it with the State committees to decide how delegates shall be chosen whether by the primary or convention system. This leaves the way open to Presidential primaries in States where primary laws are in force. If any other method were adopted in these states, contests would probably result. A State which overrules local laws would be inviting a national fight at the Chicago Convention.—N. Y. World

JEFFERSON'S CRIMES

Jefferson county is waking up to the fact that the rest of the state has known for years.

Jefferson county has found out that more crimes are committed there than are committed in the whole of England.

She has found out that the crime record is injuring the county and the city of Birmingham.

We have warned Jefferson all the time, about the loose citizens that flock there. The county probably cannot help it. She cannot protect, or discriminate in her citizenship, saying who shall and who shall not become citizens of that county.

Years ago she thought it due largely to the number of convicts turned loose there. Probably some of it was. But now convicts must be carried back to the place from which they were convicted. Nothing keeping them from going back to Birmingham of course, and probably many of them do.

Two or three years ago one or two of the Birmingham papers were busy showing that crimes were on the increase there because of prohibition. They published statistics showing that crime during prohibition times was ahead of the record during saloon times.

Saloons went back—well regulated saloons the kind that make good citizenship. They were opened up this year not primarily to cure all of the evils of Jefferson but to cure some of them.

The howl about such a revival of crime comes since the saloons went into operation.

Probably more people have been murdered since the saloons went back than had been murdered in a year or two years prior to that time, and during the prohibition time.

Those papers that said the town was spoiling for well regulated saloons will have some other excuse. They can make excuses as fast as crimes are committed in Jefferson.

We have read of some of the crimes and note the whiskey barrels in many of them.

One man whose wife mysteriously died and whose neighbors now say to have the body exhumed, went to the undertakers and bought two coffins to put her away in. Later he specified both orders, but the neighbors said he was drunk then, and drunk before his wife died. Now they are implicating him with a crime. Probably he killed her, or he may not have had anything to do with it. She might have died of natural causes, as some people in Birmingham, really die without being killed.

We are not putting all of the crimes off on Jefferson whiskey for that last fall. We only wish to suggest however that well regulated saloons didn't lessen murder and improve citizenship.

Birmingham as we have suggested before has too many foreigners whose names look like a plume from a linotype machine.

When you take the count records of that county and look them over carefully, you will see that the great majority of criminals are not Americans, but cheap labor imported in there to carry on the many enterprises.

Our country is not particular enough on grading immigrants that come to this country.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR CATTLE, WHY NOT A LITTLE FOR MAN?

The Federal Government which is able to support a twenty million dollar Department of Agriculture and to issue enormous bulletins in millions of millions is entirely too good to waste the valuable public health bulletin of the Public Health Service. In millions of more than a few thousands that it can not afford a department of health goes without saying. The national government cannot afford to give to the health of its citizens the attention that it gives to live stock. Most of us can not help feeling, more interested in the health and welfare of human beings than in that of cattle and hogs. This we admit, is unstatesmanlike. Yet after all, is not a human being—man a child—worth something? Not as much as an Alderney cow of course, but still something—enough to justify the expenditure of a few cents to save the life of the child whose dollars are spent to save the life of a cow? It is or possibly misguided belief, says the Journal of the American Medical Association that it is worth at least this much, and this must be our apology for offering a plan for utilizing some of the Agricultural Department publications in the prevention of diseases among human beings. We hasten to add that the added expense for paper and typesetting would be infinitesimal, we do not but live that the interests of the live stock will be jeopardized.

We have before us a farmers' bulletin on tuberculosis in farm animals, which begins with a section on the Nature of the Disease. We read 'Tuberculosis is contagious. It may not attract much notice from the owner of cattle as the disease is slow to develop and a cow may be affected for several months,' etc. Our suggestion would be to insert (in brackets, so that attention would not be too seriously diverted from the cattle) the words 'father or mother of the children after owner of the cattle and the word child' after 'cow. We have no suggestion to offer as to the chapter on 'Importance' the problem is clearly stated. The importance of the disease must be estimated from two points of view, first the loss it entails on the cattle owner and the second, the danger to human beings.

The chapter on 'Symptoms' is fairly satisfactory, a careful perusal of this chapter might enable a mother or to suspect that her child was not suffering from a common bad cough (just as it helps the cattle-owner to see that something unusual is wrong with his cow) and that it was time to consult a physician. We must admit that the section Post Mortem Appendices might not be of directly practical value still its perusal might possibly convince a person with leanings toward Luddism that it would be a little hard to kill away tuberculosis lumps. The chapter on 'The Tubercle Bacillus' would be very useful for here we would find practical statements such as that the bacillus can live for a long time in favorable surroundings, such as dark or dirty stables (rooms). Similarly the chapter on 'How the disease spreads' would be decidedly practical. Sooner or later the tuberculous cow (person) begins to give off the germs of the disease, "they escape from the cow (human being) by the mouth, nose, etc., germs are coughed up and sprayed over the food in front of the cow (individual), cows (people) in adjoining stalls (beds) may acquire the disease in this way." The germs get into the milk and hogs and calves (little boys and girls) are very readily infected by it. The chapter on 'How a herd (family) is infected' is excellent, as is also the chapter on 'Sanitation.' In the latter, for example we would read that dark, dirty, crowded stables (houses) are favorable to tuberculosis, clean, airy, well lighted stables (houses) are unfavorable to the development of the disease. 'Stables (houses) should have plenty of air space for each animal (whether of momentary value or only man.)' (to. But the advice about sanitary homes (for cattle) is so excellent that we might safely advise the people to build such stables and then occupy them themselves.

But after all! Might we not hope that in the course of time it would be possible for the United States government occasionally to discuss the man first?

DRINKS FOR THE SICK ROOM.

The food for the invalid or convalescent is of vital importance, as upon the return to health depends upon the food taken to repair waste tissue. The physician's orders in regard to food should be carefully followed, as the nature of the disease from which the patient is suffering modifies the kind and amount of food taken. The following are a few of every home keeper may be glad to know how to prepare:

Wheat.—Dissolve a half a yeast cake in a half cup of tepid water mixed with a quart of milk, new milk if possible, and a tablespoonful of sugar. Put into bottles and the down the cork with a stout cord. Let stand twelve hours in a warm place, then place on ice as needed. If the bottles are left upside down they are not apt to throw out the curd, which they may do if not securely fastened. Such milk may often be taken by persons who dislike ordinary milk.

Quickly Made Beef Tea.—Broil a slice of round steak for a minute on each side, then lay on a plate and pour with a sharp knife, cutting only half way through. Turn and score closely on the other side at right angles. Pour hot water over the meat to half cover and set in a warm place. Turn often, pressing with a fork on all the meat begins to look white. Remove in a meat press until quite dry, then add salt and serve either hot or cold.

Beef.—Young meat of any kind is not good for broth, as it lacks flavor and is not so nourishing as well-developed animals.

Alfalfa.—A pound of meat and bone to a pint of cold water. Cut the meat in small pieces and have the bones cracked. After soaking for an hour let the water come slowly to a boil and allow it to simmer for three or four hours. Strain and remove all fat. Season and serve full strength or dilute to suit the taste.

Chicken Custard.—Take half a cup of strong chicken broth, a half cup of rich milk, a whole egg and the yolk of an egg salt and pepper to taste. Beat the egg and add the liquid and strain into two small cups. Set the cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven.

HOLIDAY CANDIES

One of the most delicious candies and very cheap to make is Peanut Candy.—Take a pound of brown sugar and add six ounces of butter (12 level tablespoons) and place over the heat when melted watch carefully stirring to keep it from scorching. Let it boil ten minutes not too rapidly, and then add a quart of peanuts that have been shelled and rolled until coarsely broken. Turn into a buttered pan and when cool mark in squares and cut. Wrap in waxed paper.

The found that for French candies is another simple process and if the directions are followed will be successful.

Maple Sugar Candy.—Break in pieces a pound of maple sugar put into a saucepan with three-fourths of a cup of cream and a fourth of a cup of water. Boil together until a soft ball is formed. Remove from the heat and beat until creamy, adding two thirds of a cup of broken walnut meats. Cool and mark in squares.

Velvet Molasses Candy.—Take a cup of molasses three cups of sugar, a cup of boiling water and three table-spoonsful of vinegar cook all together, at the first boil add a half teaspoonful of cream of tartar, when it is brittle when tried in cold water, it is ready to pour into buttered pans. When nearly cooked add a half cup of butter and a fourth of a teaspoonful of soda.

KISSES RETARD A WEDDING

Occulation Noted Kansas Justice Who Was Performing Ceremony—Bride Was 40 Years Old

Kansas City, Kan.—William W. Shannon will be known about the courthouse in future as the kissing bridegroom. While he and Minnie I. Hocking both of Ottawa Kan. were being married by Justice Cass Welch in the county recorder's office he kissed his bride five times. After every question the justice asked Mr. Shannon insisted on kissing the bride before the question was answered.

"If you don't cut out the kissing I won't go any further with this ceremony," Justice Welch told the bridegroom. "You not only violate the ban of kissing rules of this office but interrupt a most solemn ceremony."

Guess I can wait 32 seconds if you finish up in that time," Mr. Shannon told the justice. He kept his promise. Mr. Shannon is 39 years old and on the ceremony was a bachelor. The bride is 40 years old.

At The Post Office

THOUSANDS OF PACKAGES ARE BEING SHIPPED THROUGH EACH DAY NOW.

While the Christmas rush is on in full swing over the country and the mailmen are keeping the clocks busy, the delivery man on the run and the old man digging into his pocket for the financial end of the matter, the number of the post office crew are not making their share of active part in the holiday season. Backs upon backs of small arrival daily and in return for these, pouch after pouch containing merry Christmas tidings are being sent out of Dothan. Thousands of holiday gifts are being handled by the Dothan postoffice and the usual run of post cards has not fallen in short this year. Little part view from this city are being sent to the north, west and northwest and the real business of the post card exchanging that will effect the Alabama (which has not yet begun, for words sent to the other state are being forwarded now in order that they may reach their destination by the 26th while the thousands of Alabama and adjoining states will not send theirs until the latter part of this week. Then business picks up again.

The stamp sales in the Dothan postoffice for the first thirteen days of the month amounted to over a thousand dollars. Special request and other stamped envelopes are not included in this.

Be careful how you wrap your Christmas packages and above all how you address them for there are thousands of others who will send packages this year, and the postoffice people have many more Christmas gifts to handle besides yours. Address your packages in a large plain hand and be careful about the return card. Instead of having a plain card of a plain address and a more prominent locality on the package than the address of the destination a bad confusion of the letters and a thing that often causes delay has it in small letters in the out of the way place.

MANY INVENTIONS AND LABOR-SAVING DEVICES IN USE.

Large Kitchen is Not by Any Means the Most Ideal—Poor Economy to Sift in the Matter of Furniture.

In some respects our ideas of home making are not very different from those cherished by our ancestors. We build houses today after those designed a century ago and consider our selves lucky indeed, if we possess our forefathers' furniture that has been handed down from generation to generation.

The kitchen is a notable exception. Housekeepers of a hundred years ago would surely marvel to see the modern kitchen with its many inventions and labor-saving devices.

When planning for an up-to-date kitchen it is well to consider it first from an architectural point of view, although the majority of home-makers will have little to say in this matter.

The ideal location for a kitchen, in the country, is on the north, with windows on the east and west. This allows the sun's rays to enter in during part of the day without giving undue heat in summer. The sun is the greatest purifier and destroyer of germs and its entrance into the kitchen for even a short time will do much to ward off the sanitary conditions.

For the sake of ventilation windows should be placed on at least two sides so that a cross draft can blow away all odors.

There should be as little wood work as possible in the kitchen since wood is a harboring place for insects and germs. Where it must be used it should be of hardwood or pine painted as possible to the kitchen since wood is a harboring place for insects and germs. Where it must be used it should be of hardwood or pine painted and varnished the varnish destroying those qualities in paint that are detrimental to health.

A Convenient Kitchen

The size of a kitchen should be carefully considered. A large kitchen is not by any means the most ideal. Okkloth is to be recommended as a kitchen floor covering. The heavy in-

Two separate cupboards for the most common kitchen "workings." It will be poor economy to start once with the matter of kitchen furniture. It is a short-sighted policy not to buy good makers of stoves, refrigerators and the like.

The kitchen table should be a solid piece of furniture on casters, placed in a good light and as far from the stove as possible. There is a variety of kitchen tables on the market, many of them with handy little drawers and various devices for minimizing labor.

There should be at least one comfortable chair in the kitchen, something low without arms that will be found useful and comfortable for shell-ping peas, etc. A stool will also prove a great help to those housewives who weary with much standing. Washing dishes is a lighter task when seated on a high stool and the back is spared many an ache. A twenty-four inch stool can be purchased for less than a dollar and will be found an excellent investment.

It sometimes happens that a home is built with little regard for the pantry room. Where this is the case the kitchen cabinet should come to the rescue. These cleverly designed pieces of furniture not only relieve the congestion, but add to the attractiveness of the kitchen in no small measure.

When the furnishings have all been purchased, it will require a considerable amount of thought to place them so as to save unnecessary steps, and to make the kitchen as comfortable and convenient as it is possible.

U. S. Court Officials Leave For Home

WILL NOT BE IN DOOTHAN AGAIN UNTIL LATTER PART OF
NEXT JANUARY

Judge Jones with the other federal court officials would up what business that was to come before him from the federal court in Dothan today and they left for their homes to spend the holidays.

It will be the latter part of January when the court takes up business again when many cases are to be tried.

Judge Jones expressed the kindest feelings for the people of Dothan and appreciated the treatment accorded him while here and it will be with pleasure that he comes again in January to take up the work of meeting out justice to those who haven't walked in the straight and narrow way.

The jury made the report and was discharged.

Protest From Ceylon
At least a native of Ceylon has protested against the favorite mission hymns from Grenada's icy mountains. Mr. Gayathilake seen on a recent why Ceylon should be chosen as a hymn for human villainess. He admits that in his native island every prospect pleases and he will not deny that there are vile people there but not more of them than may be found elsewhere and he objects to the discrimination that asks the whole Christian world to say or to sing the contrary. And Mr. Gayathilake has right upon his side. How should we like it if California were suddenly worked up into such a hymn as this if faithful religionists all over Christendom were invited to consider our peculiar depravities to the exclusion of all other depravities to the exclusion of all other depravities to the exclusion of all other depravities. We should not like it at all and can only wonder at the patience of Ceylon under this opprobrious intolerance and generally hateful hymn. Nothing is so remarkable about the heathen as their invincible patience. Probably it is born of contentment. San Francisco Argonaut.

In Mourning for Tigers
The moon and otherwise known to barrow as Hagl and the tiger folk a tribute or sept of the Bara race will regard it as the most thing to go into mourning for 24 hours or so whenever a tiger dies near their village. A bold food is taboos—no slight privation to the Ruchori about fellows and in fact the natives of Assam per excellence. Then at the end of the fast there must be a general cleanup the floors and walls being smeared with a compound of mud and cow dung clothes and braven utensils being thoroughly cleaned in running water and earthenware vessels that have been used at all being actually broke and thrown away. Last but not least the water of peace is drunk and the flesh of a sacrificed fowl or pig eaten by all the clans men in common.

Leather Good Road Material
Huntingdon England has a road made of leather waste which is judged to be a complete success. There had been no use for the waste leather until somebody conceived the idea of road making with it. It was first shredded into fine bits and then treated with bitumen and tar. The road has been in existence for a year and shows but few signs of wear. Moreover it makes a comfortable footing for horses.

Stevenson Dreamed a Plot
Stevenson used to assert that the inspiration for his finest work was given to him in dreams. It was the Brownies or Little People who made his unconscious brain the vehicle for their activities. He tells the story of how he came to write Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. I had long been trying to write a story on this subject to find a body a vehicle for that strong sense of man's double being which must at times come in and overwhelm the mind of every thinking creature. For two days I went about racking my brain for a plot of any sort and on the second night I dreamed the scene at the window and a scene afterward in the room in which Hyde pursued for some time took the powder and underwent the change in the presence of his pursuer. All the rest was made awake and consciously although I think I can trace in it much of the manner of my Brownies.

Slayer Notified Police
The Copar (Scotland) police were horrified the other evening to receive the message I have shot my father. Come and arrest me over the telephone from William Houston living on an estate near Copar. On investigating they found that the crime really had been committed. The young man and his father went out shooting but shortly afterwards the son returned alone and told the estate owner of the murder, adding in going to telephone the police. The old man was found dead his face covered with blood and a gun and revolver beside him. The youth is thought to be insane.

John Biglow Dies In New York City

STATESMAN AND AUTHOR DIES
AT HIS HOME IN NEW YORK
OF OLD AGE.

New York, Dec. 19.—John Biglow, the venerable diplomat and author, died at his home here today.

Mr. Biglow died in the 85th year of his age in the old-fashioned house in Grammercy Park that had long been his residence. Three days ago he suffered a return of an ailment incident to advanced age. For more than two days he suffered intense pain, but eight or ten hours before his death there came a partial paralysis of the senses and for several hours he lay smiling at those about him, but unable to speak.

He had been failing death for several days and he realized it. He said his son, Major John Biglow, Jr., today.

At the bedside were two of his four children: Major Biglow and Miss Grace Biglow and his grand daughter, Miss Charlotte Harding.

One of the first to be notified of Mr. Biglow's death was Andrew Carnegie, whose birthday, November 25, coincides with that of the aged diplomat. The two were close friends and they spent a part of their last joint birthdays together at Mr. Biglow's residence as has been their custom for several years.

The family announced that the funeral would be at St. George's Episcopal church in this city and that the body would be taken for burial to Highland Falls where Mr. Biglow will lie beside his wife who died nearly thirty years ago.

Although 94 years of age, Mr. Biglow has kept thoroughly abreast of current events.

He was equally well known in public life and in letters. He was born in Malden, Middlesex County, New York, November 25, 1817. In 1849 he obtained an interest in the New York Evening Post, associating himself in his editorial duties with William Cullen Bryant. In 1851 he became United States counsel at Paris and in 1854 was named minister to France. In 1857 he returned to New York again entering politics and public life.

He was the author of many historical, biographical, geological and economic works.

All are cordially invited to attend.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS TO TOUR THE SOUTH

NEW HOME PREPARED FOR MR. AND MRS. VANDERBILT

New York, Dec. 19.—When Alfred G. Vanderbilt and his bride return to this country which will be about a month from now, a home will be awaiting them on the twentieth floor of a new Park Avenue hotel owned by Mr. Vanderbilt. The entire floor and part of the floor below have been converted into a great apartment for the pair. In point of convenience, luxury and service the flat is probably without an equal in the world.

SOME MISTAKES IN POULTRY

Too Many Beginners Start on Too Large Scale—Most Common Error is "Learning Too Fast"

It is well for the beginner to adopt the advice of men who are veterans in the service in order that they may avoid many of the stumbling blocks says the Poultry Journal.

Too many novices start on too large a scale. They are not content to begin at the bottom round of the ladder and gradually climb to the top. That is too slow for them. If blessed with sufficient capital they are pretty sure to start on a large scale. Without experience it may wonder that they do not succeed.

But this is not the only cause of failure with the beginner. The others might briefly be stated as having too much land, buildings too scattered, installing too much unnecessary labor, the brood or broods selected not being suitable for the purpose intended, house not built upon the sanitary plan, too much changing of the bill of fare, unskillful of small details, harboring too much unprofitable stock, carelessness in caring for all birds, relying too much on hired help and learning too fast.

It is a waste of money to buy too much land. From 5 to 10 acres is sufficient for the largest kind of plant.

A general mistake is the continual changing of the bill of fare. There should be one system of feeding and that regularly followed. The bill of fare should contain the greatest variety possible but the system should not be changed. Now articles of food should not be given to the exclusion of others until the fowls have had a chance to become acquainted with them. All additions made if the fowls are doing well up what they are getting, no change should be made at all.

Probably the most common error is learning too fast. It is a pity that the first year the beginner forms the opinion that he knows it all. Thirty years ago the poultry yard has taught the writer that he has much yet to learn. There is always something new turning up.

The wise man reads studies practices and investigates thus daily adding to his store of knowledge.

SUCCESS IN TURKEY RAISING

Indivisible for One to Attempt to Rear Large Flocks Unless Abundance of Space Available

It is inadvisable for any one to attempt turkey raising unless they have abundance of space for these birds.

Gobbler and Hen

more perhaps than any other department of the poultry yard are unable to hear confinement. Hasty attempts have been made to rear them in this kind of room but as yet the effort has not met with success. Those who are favored with space will find turkey raising profitable provided that they can secure attention being given to the birds.

COMBATING LICE IN CHICKS

Small Quantity of Olive Oil Rubbed on Pore's Head Will Prove Quite Effective.

If fowls are healthy, the premises kept clean, and a dust bath or other provided, lice rarely get the upper hand. If, however, through the brood hens transmitting them to the chicks, lice that most harm ensues. A hen with many or few lice on her when sitting transmits them to the chicks. As immediately they are hatched. They are to be found stationary on the chicken's head above the back and eyes and in a few days they get more plentiful. As to be found behind and on top of head and throat. A simple and effective treatment adopted by the government station in New South Wales is to place a small quantity of olive oil in a saucer and to day after hatching dip the birds in the oil and thoroughly rub it into the full of the chicken's head and under the throat. This will kill the lice if it is not and if repeated the second or third day there will be little or no any escaping. When a week or ten days old the chickens should be examined again and if any of the lice are found at this age a little more oil can be added to the olive oil. It is best to annoint all chickens with oil immediately after they are hatched, such being a sure preventative of the scourge.

MANY SENATORS APPROVE OF TAPIN ACTION

Washington, Dec. 19—The Senate by an unanimous vote tonight formally ratified President Taft's notification to Russia of the termination of the treaty of 1882. The Senate joint resolution, reported by the Foreign Relations Committee as a substitute for the Senate resolution that passed the House 300 to 1, was adopted after an all day debate on the Russian discrimination against the Jews of America. The House tomorrow is expected to agree to the Senate's measure.

The Senate was in session late today paying the way toward ratification of President Taft's action in abrogating the Russian treaty of 1882. Many Senators were present with speeches and it became evident after two hours of the session that a vote might be reached tonight.

Harney Opens Debate
Senator Harney inaugurated the debate with a speech he had prepared yesterday and which sharply criticized Russia. He was interrupted many times. Senator Lodge followed in support of the resolution of ratification which he reported yesterday from the Foreign Relations Committee.

Mr. Harney said he knew of no instance in which an American law when President Taft arrived at whether Russian born or not had been given official permission to visit Russia. I do not say, however, he said that enough influence might not be brought to bear to obtain admission to the Russian realm.

He said that was not a Russian commercial business what a man in Russia was and added much laughter that he knew of no reason why anyone should want to visit Russia.

Senator Lodge urged avoidance of any words that would inflame action that would make the United States position impregnable and forever stop discriminations against any of our citizens.

Senator Smith of Maryland then spoke in favor of the treaty.

TAFT GOES THROUGH NEW YORK WITHOUT ESCORT

New York, Dec. 19.—The President of the United States, traveling through New York city tonight without a police escort such as has been customarily assigned for his protection during his visits here.

Last what caused the omission of the usual provisions to safeguard the Nation's head had not been discovered up to a late hour tonight. The fact remains, however, that who President Taft arrived at 9:35 o'clock tonight at the Pennsylvania terminal on a two days trip to this city, not a bluecoat employee of the city was in sight.
